Once the brush is selected, you simply select the color you desire from a drop-down menu that appears when clicking in the canvas to highlight a color. This brush will remain active as you select a variety of colors. The Auto-Brush is useful if you want to create a canvas filled with one or more solid colors. Colors can also be added to a layer or removed from a layer by clicking on the color of your choice. Using a brush will enable you to create a painting effect, such as trimming brush strokes. While the Express Settings panel is easy to navigate, even novice users will find the panel useful for quickly configuring some of the more common settings. Any item the panel contains can be set at the right of the panel or by clicking on the star in the bottom-right corner. The Express option (not to be confused with Express Settings) can be toggled on or off any time by clicking on the pen icon in the top-right corner of the window.
